Under protocol-matched inference, velocity calibration is preserved by every method